A Case Or Two And A Stiff Fine

A CITIZEN of Statesboro and the parent of a school child is worried.

He sits on the front porch of his home on North College street and sees that street turned into a race track.

He tells of fast-moving traffic endangering the lives of school children on their way to and from school. He tells of the many citizens who use College street as a traffic lane to and from the school.

He's concerned for the safety of those children who must walk to and from the school.

He's concerned for the pre-school children who never realizing the danger of playing along the sidewalks of that street.

He's concerned with the general flaunting of speed limits along that street, not only in the mornings and afternoons, but at all hours of the day.

He's concerned because the chances of accidents happening on that street are higher than local police authorities should allow them to become.

And we agree with him.

We observed traffic on both North and South College streets. And this citizen and parent has a case.

College street has become a race track. We know that during morning school hours and afternoon school hours police are stationed at the intersection of South College street and Grady street. And we concede the necessity of maintaining police there.

But we believe that a closer study of traffic on North and South College streets, it would work. But an attempt be made to slow it down before it's too late.

We believe the first step would be to change the blinking light at the intersection of West Main and College streets. It is nothing but a hazard. If it were observed—if drivers would come to a full stop before crossing, as the light directs, it would work. But an observer is quickly aware that very, very few ever take the time to stop for the light.

We believe that if our police force were instructed to spend more time in the control and direction of traffic, with particular attention to the main residential street, than to the checking of parking meters, there would be an overall reduction in the hazards created by speeding traffic.

We believe that a few cases made against those violating our speed laws and stiff fines imposed upon them—then let the word get around—would result in a fast slowdown on the part of these race track drivers.

We Think of the Well-Fed

ON MONDAY of this week we talked to a U. S. Marine who had just returned to Statesboro from Korea.

We talked a long time—that is, he talked a long time.

He told of the bravery, of the high moral, of the fighting abilities of the American youth.

He talked about the rigors of last winter, of the suffering, and of blood and sacrifice.

We could not help thinking about the wounded being moved down that road back to a rear area.

We could not help thinking about the youth losing his life's blood.

We could not help thinking of the days, the nights—living with death every second of the time.

And speaking through our thinking were thoughts of the thousands and thousands of well-fed, satisfied people of our community.

As that U. S. Marine talked we paid less and less attention to him as we looked at a poster we had pinned on our office wall. . . . "FOR DEFENSE—Blood Means Life." It portrayed a battle-wounded medic holding high a bottle of blood with a tube leading to a war-wounded American lying unconscious under a blanket, before a background of mountains.

And we kept wondering how many citizens of this community would make good their pledge to contribute a pint of their blood.

We wish that every citizen who pledged to become a blood donor, every citizen in Bulloch county, could have heard that Marine talk.

There'd be no hesitation, there'd be no doubt, when the Bloodmobile came to Statesboro next Monday May 14.

There would be people there, glad of the opportunity to give a pint of blood that some fighting man may find life.

A Fine College Band

IT'S A FULL WEEK at Georgia Teachers College.

On Thursday evening, May 17, the college, together with students of the high school and citizens of Statesboro, will present "Street Scene," a play. On Friday morning, the college will observe its annual Honors Day, and Friday evening the college band will present a concert.

All these events deserve the support of citizens of Statesboro.

Actually, it's not a question of supporting these events, for they are worthy of attendance on their own merits.

The band concert Friday evening will present visiting bandsmen from all over the state. The most outstanding senior bandsmen of Georgia have been invited here for that week end to participate in the concert with regular members of the band. The combined band will include more than 60 pieces.

Dana King, believed to be the youngest band director in the country, will direct the band. Reports from the state indicate that the college band is one of the best in this section. Working on a restricted budget, Director King has managed to rate "excellent" in band circles, and the band is thought of as one of the best in the country in schools the size of our college.

Mr. King and his bandsmen have been invited to appear on a television show this winter and to make a tour of upper sections of the state.

Take time out and go to the Teachers College band concert Friday evening. You will enjoy it.

A Fine High School Band

IT'S SCHOOL CLOSING TIME—almost.

Things are beginning to happen. Something nearly every night.

First in the series of school-end events will be the Statesboro High School Blue Devils Band concert on Tuesday evening of next week.

The Statesboro high school band has made wonderful strides under the director, Guyton McLendon. Those who heard previous concerts will remember their amazement and pleasure at the improvement of the band since its coming under the direction of Mr. McLendon.

The Spring Concert next Tuesday will provide additional amazement at its progress.

As this is being written the band is in Valdosta, participating in the State Music Festival. We believe it will perform with credit to its members and to Statesboro and Bulloch county.

We know that you who have a son or daughter in the band will be present. So, this is addressed to those who love band music, to those who love to see the youth of the community displaying its talents, to those who would question the value of a high school band, and to those who are just plain curious. We say, go hear these young people perform.

You'll be highly repaid—in pleasure and satisfaction, and a feeling of community pride.

Up She Goes!

THIS WEEK we toss our hat high in the air and say, "Well done, and congratulations."

For two of our high school newspapers have been recognized by the Georgia Scholastic Press Association, which met in Athens last week.

Teachers College Laboratory High School's "Little George-Anne" won the trophy for general excellence, together with a certificate of distinction.

The Statesboro High School's "Hi-Owl" won the trophy for outstanding community service, together with a certificate of distinction.

Remer Tyson is editor-in-chief of the Little George-Anne and Ann Evans is editor-in-chief of the Hi-Owl.

These two high school newspapers are a credit to our community and we join the press of Georgia in congratulating them on their outstanding achievements.

So, up goes our hat—high, wide, and handsome.

Our Boy Scouts

Are Worthy Of

Our Best Salute

By VIRGINIA RUSSELL

IF YOU thought you were pretty good at identifying uniforms but suddenly a very strange one appeared on the streets of Statesboro and you decided you weren't so good after all—well, don't give up—maybe that outfit you saw was a senior scout uniform. From the activities of painting helmet liners white and bleaching leggings white one gathers that these boys are about ready for action.

Perhaps you may have noticed some of these boys, not in uniform, at the Red Cross first aid classes, or on Tuesday nights in someone's yard doing push-ups, or in less serious moods on a hayride with their girlfriends.

Anyhow, these senior scouts are worthy of our best salute. They are seriously studying and are attempting to learn what they can of disaster relief, and its cause—A-bomb or tornado.

Here are some of the qualifications for becoming a senior scout:

The boys must be 14 years old and a first class scout; he must have a merit badge of public health and first aid, as well as badges in citizenship, personal health, pathfinding, lifesaving, and athletics.

Mr. Zack Smith is the scout leader and is doing an excellent job of developing these boys physically, mentally, and spiritually. He has every boy's deepest respect, although they speak of him as "Zack." One mother asked her son if he shouldn't address his scout leader as Mr. Smith. The son replied, "Ah, Mamma, how could we call him Mr. Smith when he's just Zack?"

The other day there was a senior scout explaining how he'd use certain equipment for this trouble and that, in case we were bombed with the atom bomb. I innocently asked how he knew the equipment would be intact in case of a bombing? Now, the next project in that particular scout's mind is that of building a bomb shelter, for the equipment, at least.

It is rather hard to visualize these boys thinking in such serious terms when the mothers can hardly realize they are anything except their little boys. However, these boys are more mature than we know—they are in earnest about their program and they can prove a great help to their country.

Active members of the senior scouts are: Ronnie Brown, Billy Bland, Smith Banks, Cliff Cannon, Guy Freeman, Glenn Jennings Jr., Gene Newton, L. M. Smith, William Russell, and Steve Sewell.

Statesboro continues to be on the progressive list. We would like to see her progress in two more respects. First, the banks become members of the Federal Reserve System. (There would be no exchange on checks cashed in Statesboro given by out-of-town banks.) Second, the telephone company and Western Union join hands as they do elsewhere, so that one may call in a wire from home or his place of business, and the wire be charged on the phone bill. What an advantage both these small things would be!

And when it comes to writing, I wish I had the gift. To add so much to little things; the humblest soul uplift. Her column, "Old Fashioned Mother," so down to earth and true—How I wish I had the talent to pass it on to you.

After writing the above I received a birth announcement.

"Hello," Just thought I'd call and tell you that we all are doing fine. Guess I'd better ring off now for we have a busy line."

On the tiny garments fluttering on the line, we read the following: "My name is Jane Dixon. I arrived April 26, I weighed 7 lbs. and 5 ozs. My parents are Hank and Dot Hollingsworth. Hank is the son of and never can be done, gets little money, has scarce time and materials to satisfy his hunger, or to enjoy the quiet of nature's sweet restorer, sleep, and esteems himself peculiarly happy if he is not assaulted and battered by some unprincipled demagogue who loves puppet shows and hires the rabble with a treat of cider brandy to vote him into some petty office.

"A man who does all this and much more, not here recorded, you will know must be a rather busy animal; and as he performs the work of so many different persons, he may justly be supposed their representative, and to have an indisputable right, when speaking of himself, to use the plural number, and to say WE all occasions and in all places."

A few days after we made that statement, along comes a clipping in an envelope, unsigned—just a clipping pasted to a three by five card, which read:

"Little Girl—"Daddy, why do editors call themselves 'we'?"

Daddy—"To fool the readers into thinking there are too many of them to beat up."

WORK REPORT

We finally got our screen porch painted. Well, it's not exactly finished. There's one little three-foot square area on which we still have to put a second coat. And there are some spots we've got to go back over. But for the sake of the record, the job's finished.

And now we're back in our yard.

It's fun gardening.

My mother was a lady with lovely nut-brown hair. Her eyes were soft and brown, no trace of anger there. Her hands were small and dainty, so gentle on your brow. Even so, you knew full well that when she spoke, your mind'd be right now.

There was dignity and grace in every move she made. From sewing patches on a coat to making marmalade. She sewed with tiny stitches, were it homespun or batiste. And eleven layers she made before I came—the youngest and the least.

Always I have felt that I loved her most of all. And in my heart came memories wonderful to recall.

On Mother's Day I long to wear a lovely red, red rose. Because she's closer still to me than anybody knows. When I crochet a bit of lace, a baby shoe or mat. I stand in pride before my work. "My mother taught me that."

When I prepare a simple meal, I feel my work is art. For Mamma thought the smallest chore came from an overflowing heart.

Editor's Uneasy Chair

OUR FRIEND IS BACK

OUR FRIEND, Mr. Sutherland, of Brookton, Mass., father of Al Sutherland, of Statesboro, is back for a visit with his son. Mr. Sutherland flew to Statesboro to attend the performance of "The Mikado," in which Al played a leading role at the college recently.

Mr. Sutherland is a man to whom we tie our affection. When he comes in to see us the place lights up, and we, as well as our co-workers in the backshop, feel the brightness and warmth of his presence. He brings in sunshine, cheerfulness, and kind words for all. Regardless of what we are doing, we break it off to talk with him. When he leaves us, he leaves us with a refreshed feeling and a new zest for what we are doing.

Oh that there could be more and more people like the "Little Scotchman," as we fondly refer to him. He's no stranger in Statesboro. He walks the streets, speaking to us.

We're glad he's back with us for a spell.

WE EDITORS USE "WE"

Recently we made a talk to the students of the college at one of their chapel assemblies. We quoted a thing called "Why Country Newspaper Editors Call Themselves 'We'." We picked it up from the American Press Association magazine and it is credited to Carl R. Keeler.

It goes like this:

"A Country Editor—Is one who reads newspapers selects miscellany, writes articles on all subjects sets type, reads proof, folds papers, and sometimes carries them, prints jobs, runs on errands, patiently receives blame for a thousand things that never were

and never can be done, gets little money, has scarce time and materials to satisfy his hunger, or to enjoy the quiet of nature's sweet restorer, sleep, and esteems himself peculiarly happy if he is not assaulted and battered by some unprincipled demagogue who loves puppet shows and hires the rabble with a treat of cider brandy to vote him into some petty office.

RABBIT TROUBLE AGAIN

For the past several weeks we have been noticing a rabbit in our front yard. We had set out some azalea plants and we got our der under when we saw that rabbit—remember the rabbits that denuded our rose bushes? Well, here they were after our azaleas. We could not scare this one away. But our soft heart would not let us go any further than flinging our hands out and shouting "scat"—not knowing the rabbit language. We resorted to cat language. But to no avail.

Then one day recently we noticed a tiny baby rabbit in our back yard. We were helpless to do anything but to catch it and take it to "Stacy" Summerlin, our six-year-old neighbor. So, we set about trying to catch the baby rabbit. If you're fortuitous, catching a baby bunny. The shot of our attempt was the finding of a rabbit's nest in which two more baby rabbits were living—right in our bulb bed, just under our kitchen window.

Did we scream? Here we were, harboring a whole family of rabbits—and our azaleas' food supply.

Well, the things were so blamed cut that we were helpless to do anything but to catch it and take it to "Stacy" Summerlin, our six-year-old neighbor. So, we set about trying to catch the baby rabbit. Johnson, house mother of East Hall; Frieda Gernani, professor of fine arts; Don McDougald, assistant controller; Tully Pennington, professor of biology; Elia Johnson, professor of English; Dr. Fielding Russell, head of the English department; and Z. L. Strange, Collegeboro postmaster.

"Street Scene," Pulitzer prize winner of 1928, is a moving story of life on the darker side of New York City. It is here, in the great "melting pot" of the United States, that one finds the great variety of characters that make the play one of the most realistic and touching dramas of the modern age.

The production is one of the most tremendous ever undertaken by Maquers. The cast includes 55 characters and the intricate set, a New York tenement house, is being built by the Industrial Arts Department of the college.

THANKS
Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Adams of Athens, Georgia, who were hurt recently in an automobile accident in Statesboro, and confined to the Bulloch County Hospital, wish to take this means of expressing their appreciation to the hospital staff and to the good people of Statesboro for their kindness during this time.

Miss Joyce DeLoach To Become Bride of Kenneth W. Davis

Mr. and Mrs. Felix DeLoach of Statesboro announce the engagement of their daughter, Joyce, to Kenneth William Davis of Statesboro and Bainbridge, son of Mrs. William Dedrick Davis and the late Mr. Davis.

The wedding will be solemnized on June 23 at 3 o'clock at the Primitive Baptist Church in Statesboro.

Miss DeLoach is a graduate of Georgia Teachers High School and has completed three years of college work on her B. S. degree. For the past year she has been a member of the Guyton school faculty.

Mr. Davis is a graduate of the Bainbridge high school. He later served with the U. S. Navy and then attended college in Tulsa, Okla. He is now parts manager at Woodcock Motor Co.

All friends are invited to attend.

Luncheon 8 Club Visits in Jacksonville

On Wednesday members of the Luncheon 8 Club spent the day in Jacksonville with Mrs. Bob Darby at her new home and were entertained at the George Washington Hotel. In the group were Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. Bruce Olliff, Mrs. Cliff Bradley, Mrs. J. O. Johnston, Mrs. Inman Foy, Mrs. A. M. Braswell Sr., Mrs. Roger Holland and Mrs. Harry Smith.

Mrs. Woodcock Hostess to Club

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Will Woodcock was hostess to the Three O'Clocks at her home on Zetterow avenue. Roses and sweet peas were used in the decorations. Frozen fruit salad, cheese straws, and individual cakes were served with iced tea.

Mrs. J. P. Foy, with top score for the club, received a novelty pin, a similar prize going to Mrs. Devane Watson for visitor's high score. Mrs. Inman Dekle was given costume jewelry for low score, and Mrs. E. L. Barnes won a fan as cut prize.

Other guests were Mrs. Henry Blitch, Mrs. W. A. Bowen, Mrs. Leodel Coleman, Mrs. Virginia Grimes, Mrs. Sam Franklin, Mrs. Jim Donaldson, Mrs. J. B. Johnson, Mrs. Grady Attaway, Mrs. Henry Ellis, Mrs. Glenn Jennings, Mrs. Bernard McDougald, Mrs. Perry Kennedy and Mrs. Bonnie Morris.

Tally Club Meets With Mrs. Turner

Mrs. Ben Ray Turner was hostess Wednesday afternoon to the Tally Club at the home of her parents on College boulevard. Roses were used in the decorations.

Apricot ice and ice box cookies were served. Later, Coca-Colas and nuts were served. For high score, Mrs. Harold Powell received an ash tray. A bracelet went to Mrs. Hal Macon Jr. for low score. Mrs. Fred Hodges Jr. received scatter pins for cut prize, and Mrs. Sonny Bird won floating prize, a pair of earrings.

Other players were Mrs. Jack Tillman, Mrs. Bud Tillman, Mrs. Billy Tillman, Mrs. John Godbee, Mrs. Earl Allen, Mrs. Charles Robbins Jr., Mrs. John Ford Mays Jr. and Mrs. Charles Brannen.

Hostesses at Bridge

Mrs. Cameron Bremseth and Mrs. Don Hackett were joint hostesses at a bridge party Saturday at Mrs. Hackett's apartment.

Spring flowers were used in attractive arrangements. Strawberry shortcake was served with coffee.

Mrs. Albert Braswell received a wooden tray for high score. Cut prize, a vase, was won by Mrs. Julian Hodges. Mrs. Elloway Forbes received a picture frame for second high score.

Other guests included Mrs. Frank Hook, Miss Maxann Foy, Mrs. Lud Ashmore, Mrs. Paul Franklin Jr., Mrs. Josh Lanier, Mrs. Buford Knight, Mrs. Jake Smith, Mrs. Joe Robert Tillman and Mrs. C. P. Olliff Jr.

Faculty Dames Hold Annual Luncheon At TC Cafeteria

The Faculty Dames used as the theme for their annual May luncheon Lewis Carroll's "Mad Hatter"—a Mad Hatter luncheon. Hedda Hopper would have felt right at home Wednesday at the college cafeteria as each woman present wore a hat of her own design.

Mrs. Jack Broucek won the prize for her hat, an unusual creation suggesting the theme of "April Showers Bring May Flowers." A plastic duck on the crown carried an umbrella and was nestled in flowers. To anchor the cardboard brim, Mrs. Broucek used a ribbon that tied under her chin.

Mrs. Tom Little covered a beanie with tin foil, playing cards forming the upstanding crown. Mrs. Tom Alexander wore with dignity and grace a band of pitcher plants. Mrs. Paul Carroll went sweet and sentimental with a bonnet of eyelet embroidery arranged to frame her face. Mrs. Marvin Pittman managed to remain dignified wearing a straw hat with a bill. A red scarf draped the crown and hung down the front. Mrs. J. B. Seacore was beautiful at a distance of about ten feet. A cardboard hat holder, polished black, was covered with red flowers in wild abandon on the brim, and the whole was caught with black net. Mrs. John Erickson wore a really lovely hat fashioned from a nylon parachute, the handsome tassels being the chute's ripcord. Mrs. Taylor Scott wore a saucy frilly dolly with flowers on top. Miss Frieda Gernant, guest of honor, because she had made the covers for the yearbook, displayed her artistic talent with Carmen Miranda accent. She wore an inverted bread box from which rose a palm tree with a coconut. She tried to find a monkey to complete the tropical idea.

On this occasion each wife whose husband was leaving the college for work on doctorates revealed their plans.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Thomas Alexander, Mrs. H. L. Ashmore, Mrs. Jack Broucek, Mrs. Paul Carroll, Mrs. J. I. Clements, Mrs. Buford Dye, Mrs. John Erickson, Mrs. J. P. Foides, Miss Frieda Gernant, Mrs. Warren Houck, Mrs. D. L. Thomas, Mrs. Don Hackett, Mrs. W. S. Hanner, Mrs. Dana King, Mrs. Charles Kopp, Mrs. Thomas Little, Mrs. Emory Maddox, Mrs. Sam Peden, Mrs. Jones Pelts, Mrs. Marvin Pittman, Mrs. George Rogers, Mrs. Fielding Russell, Mrs. J. B. Seacore, Mrs. Taylor Scott, Mrs. Yewell Thompson, Mrs. Robert Winburn and Miss Sophie Johnson.

NEW DODGE "Job-Rated" Trucks

The trucks that do the most for you

Why a "Job-Rated" truck is your safest investment

A "Job-Rated" truck is engineered at the factory to fit a specific job... save you money... last longer. Every unit from engine to rear axle is "Job-Rated"—engineered to haul a specific load over the roads you travel and at the speeds you require.

Every unit that SUPPORTS the load—frame, axles, springs, wheels, tires and others—is engineered right to provide the strength and capacity needed.

Every unit that MOVES the load—engine, clutch, transmission, propeller shaft, rear axle and others—is engineered right to meet a particular operating condition.

Safer stops with "Job-Rated" brakes

Step on the brakes of your Dodge "Job-Rated" truck and you're sure of smooth stopping action far in excess of normal requirements. You get long-lasting Cyclebond "no-rivet" brake lining—with lining area increased as G.V.W. rating goes up! And now, on all models 1½-ton and up, except air brake models, you get another Dodge "first"—new Tapered, Molded Cyclebond brake lining. It's longer-lasting and extra quiet.

Safer steering and easier handling

Now, you can maneuver your Dodge "Job-Rated" truck with less effort! Steering is more accurate. New, easy-acting worm-and-roller steering gears on many models! To make driving still safer and easier, Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks have new, shorter turning diameters. You also get the easy-handling advantages of cross-steering, short wheelbase and wide front tread. All these features add up to the easiest handling truck on the market!

Safer visibility with "Pilot-House" cabs

When you drive a Dodge "Job-Rated" truck you look through the biggest windshield of any popular truck! You have a clear close-up of the road, made possible by a new, lower hood line. For even greater all-round visibility, you can get DeLuxe and Custom cabs with wide-view rear quarter windows. "Pilot-House" cabs provide extra safety, too. All-steel construction with top, floor and sides welded—not bolted! No wonder owners agree that Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks are the safest on the road!

FLUID DRIVE now available

Only Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks offer gyrol Fluid Drive—available on ½, ¾, 1-ton models. Helps assure less wheel-spinning on slippery surfaces... less tendency to spin in mud, snow, wherever going is tough. Makes driving easier. Helps protect loads, lowers upkeep costs, lengthens truck life.

Dean Drewery Will Red Cross Offers Speak Here May 14 Graduates Jobs Journalism Clinic

Monday, May 14, will be "Journalism Day" at Teachers College. Dean John E. Drewery of the Henry Grady School of Journalism, University of Georgia, will speak at a chapel assembly at 10 a. m. and afterwards, with his Grady School assistants, will conduct a clinic for the college and laboratory high school newspaper and yearbook staffs. Worth McDougald of Statesboro, an assistant professor in the journalism school, is expected to be a member of the clinic staff.

Statesboro will figure in afternoon activities, with Dean Drewery addressing the Rotary Club at its noon luncheon.

Dean Drewery is nationally known as a teacher, administrator, author and editor. Educated at his own University and at Columbia, he has been teaching journalism at the University since 1922. Each year he directs four outstanding press and radio institutes, which reach practitioners of all levels. He is the organizer of the Georgia Scholastic Press Association and the Georgia Collegiate Press Association.

In New York City last week Dean Drewery introduced winners of the George Peabody Awards, the "oscar" of radio and television administered by the Georgia Journalism school. He has been president of the American Teachers of Journalism, a local Rotary Club president, president of the University chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, a newspaper reporter and news editor, and a Baptist Sunday School teacher.

His syndicated weekly column, "New Books News," appears in the Atlanta Constitution and other newspapers. Some of his better known books are "Some Magazines and Magazine Makers," "Concerning the Fourth Estate," "Contemporary American Magazines," "Post Biographies of Famous Journalists," "Book Reviewing," "More Post Biographies," and "Journalism at the Mid-Century."

Plans For Pool Opening About Complete As Tickets Go On Sale

PLANS FOR POOL OPENING ABOUT COMPLETE

Plans for the opening of Memorial Park Swimming Pool are almost complete. The swimming meet has been cancelled since Savannah could not enter a team. Plans now include a swimming exhibition show with all ages competing. The show will get underway at 3 p. m. instead of the previously announced hour. Seven girls have been selected to view the show which will be staged in their honor. These include Betty Womack, Ann Evans, Kay Lough, Jo Attaway, Nancy Attaway, Liz Thomas and Juanita Street. The full program for the show will be announced next week. Again this year a fish will be placed in the pool on opening day and the person catching the fish will be given a season ticket free.

SEASON TICKETS ON SALE

Sometime this week you will be asked to buy your season ticket for the 1951 season. These tickets will be sold by members of the various clubs and organizations in the community and they will be competing for cash prizes. This will be a wonderful opportunity for you to get your ticket and insure a happy swimming season. A special offer has been made by the Bulloch Herald which means a six month subscription to the Bulloch Herald free with each season ticket purchased. If you already subscribe to the Herald your subscription will be extended for six more months. Don't miss out on this opportunity.

JUNIOR LEAGUE ALL STARS TO PLAY SAVANNAH

The Junior League All Stars will journey to Savannah this Saturday to return the game played here last week, when the Juniors defeated the Panthers of Savannah behind the one hit shut-out pitching of Robert Stockdale. The Juniors will leave the center at 9 a. m. and the plans include a trip to the beach, a picnic lunch and a chance to see the Indians play Columbus following the game at 3 p. m.

DRAG ON INN CLUB

The Drag On Inn Club this week is planning to have a big outdoor affair out at the Martins country place and everyone will carry along a swimming suit to get into the swim. Plans for fishing, swimming, boating, softball, horse-shoe and auto have been made. The members will leave the center at 3 p. m. and will arrive back at 3 p. m.

The difference goes more than Skin-Deep

Nobody wonders what you're driving when you roll by in this one.

In the 1951 line-up, its brand-new front-end styling stands out with a beauty all its own.

You're the proud owner of a Buick—and the whole world knows it.

But you—at the wheel—enjoy a long list of differences that go far deeper than looks.

The ride is different—level and true. You sit the road with special assurance—because Buick's torque-tube drive keeps rear wheels firmly aligned—soft coil springs on all four wheels soak up the bumps and bobbles—honest weight keeps you on a steady keel.

The power is different—eager and sure. Buick's high-compression Fireball engine does wonders with fuel—and no matter what you demand in emergency, there's horsepower to spare.

Handling is different—this car seems to steer itself on straightaway or curve—and swings lightly into parking spots inches shorter than you'd think you need.

Capping it all, there's the silver versatility of Dynaflow Drive,* that takes all the tenseness out of driving—responds to your slightest wish with a surging swoop of power.

No doubt about it, what you get in a Buick is far more than just a new car—it's a whole new experience in getting pleasurable from here to there. So why not explore this difference? Come, take a Buick over and find out how very much satisfaction smart money can buy.

No other car provides all this:
DYNAFLOW DRIVE* • FIREBALL POWER
4-WHEEL COIL SPRING • DUAL VENTILATION
PUSH-BAR FRONTEND • TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE
WHITE-GLOW INSTRUMENTS • DREAMLINE STYLING

PLAYERS OF THE WEEK IN ALL LEAGUES

Each week in each league the outstanding player of the week is selected on the basis of outstanding sportsmanship, performance and team play. This week the players were: Robert Stockdale in the Junior League for his outstanding play in the Savannah Panthers versus the Junior League All Stars game. In the Midlet League this week John Dole was selected for his performance in the Cobras versus Thunderbolts game. In the Senior League Gilbert Cone was selected for his performance in the Dynamites versus Cobras game.

Blood Bank Program Is Explained To Brooklet FB by John C. Cromley

By MRS. JOHN A. ROBERTSON

The Farm Bureau and the Associated Women held the May meeting last Wednesday night. The men met in the Community house and their committee served a fish supper.

The president, D. L. Alderman, conducted the business meeting. John C. Cromley made a talk pertaining to the Bulloch County Blood Bank.

The Associated Women held their meeting in the home-making department of the high school. A delightful supper was served by the hostesses for May, Mrs. Joe Ingram, Mrs. Ben Taylor, Mrs. Ross Rogers, Mrs. Len McElveen, Mrs. J. H. Hinton, Mrs. J. H. Wyatt, Mrs. Felix Parrish, and Miss Mamie Lou Anderson.

The devotionals was given by Mrs. Bob Mikell, and Mrs. J. C. Proctorius conducted the business session.

Both groups then assembled in the school auditorium where Byron Dyer, county agent, showed a film, "The Old Dirt Dauber's Garden for a Year."

The closing phase of the program was the selection of a Farm Bureau Queen. Contestants were Jane Brown, Jo Ann Denmark, Ann Atkins, Gloria McElveen, and Stella Comer.

Gloria McElveen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lee McElveen, was chosen and will compete in place with queens who have been selected from other Farm Bureaus in the county.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday night, June 6, and Mrs. W. C. Cromley will be chairman of hostesses for the Associated Women.

Last Friday at chapel period, Mrs. A. C. Watts, teacher of the Brooklet school's first grade, presented her "tiny tots" in a unique program. Nancy Parrish was the announcer, "Words of Welcome," Kay Ann Hendrix, Bible verses, Billy Lanier, Charles Joyner, Dean O'watt, Charles Royal, Jack Dickerson, Thomas Fordham, Gilbert Groover, John B. Lanier, Derick Batemore, Raymond Morris, Randall Shurling, Jimmy Aaron, Jack Salter, and John David Lewis; Banding, "Bon, You Washed," Terry Robertson, "The Dolly Show," Patsy Posa, Vivian Rucker, Rebecca Brannen, Jane Lanier, Kay Ann Hendrix, Lanier, Baker, Joann Collins, Linda Lanier, Caroline Harbhill, and Nancy Parrish. Judge of the "babies" was Jack Dickerson, who awarded a prize to each "contestant." Song in costume, "Sunbonnet Sally and Over-all Jim," Vivian Rucker and Terry Robertson.
